Editorial

We bring to you yet another edition of our annual magazine 'Cuncolean 2018-19'. The academic year started on a hectic note as the college was preparing for the second cycle of accreditation. The NAAC team visited the college on 4th and 5th October 2018 and accredited us with B grade. It is said the harder you work for something, the greater you'll feel when you achieve it.

The year saw an increase in the number of students and activities as well. The academic activities alongwith the Students Council, the NSS unit and the other cells/guilds/associations kept students busy not just in the classrooms but also gave them an opportunity to showcase their talents outside the classroom. The Students Council organised the first edition of 'Yuva Sangram 2018', an Inter-collegiate event, which turned out to be a grand success to the institution. The NSS unit under the guidance of the programme officers conducted various social activities.

Our sports persons made us proud by bringing laurels to the college. A word of appreciation goes out to our womens kho kho team for retaining the championship for the fourth consecutive year. A word of appreciation goes out to our athlete Ms. Dipti Velip, for securing Bronze medals in 3000 mts and 1500 mts. race at the Inter-collegiate Athletic meet, at Goa University.

During this academic year new Principal, Dr. Sanjay P. Sawant Dessai, took over the reigns as head of the institution. The editorial team of 'Cuncolean' heartily welcomes and congratulate you sir, and hope that under your guidance this institution of higher learning will scale greater heights.

Dear readers, this magazine is a result of the combined efforts of the editorial team. I take this opportunity to thank the contributors whose enthusiastic write ups make it more meaningful. I wish the readers find this magazine interesting.

Message from the Principal

From the Principals desk

I am delighted to pen these few lines for the 2018-19 edition of 'Cuncolean, the Annual Magazine of the C. E. S. College of Arts & Commerce, Cuncolim, Salcete Goa.

A College magazine profiles the events and activities conducted during an academic year.

I joined this institution on 1st of October 2018 and within a short span, I have noticed that there exists an immense potential among the students and the faulty to move towards excellence.

The students of this locality are fortunate and privileged to have an institution of higher learning at their door step with pristine surroundings. Many of our students are first generation learners, some with very poor socio economic background. It is our endeavor to equip young men and women with knowledge and virtues, so that they become socially responsible, confident and compassionate citizens.

The Management is evincing keen interest in the development of this college. Their positive approach to various proposals put forth for the betterment of the college needs to be appreciated.

Our students have excelled in sports and cultural activities at the State and National level. This success is a testimony of the sincere efforts and dedication of our well qualified faculty

The annual college magazine is not just to profile the academic events and achievements of the institution, but it also provides an opportunity for the students to display their creative mind through different forms of writings.

SAVE WATER

BY: Queeny George, F.Y.B.A

Water is an urgent necessity of life in all the areas of work like household, agriculture, domestic, industry, etc. It is the nature's precious gifts to us for the continuity of life on the earth. All the living things need more water for their survival as their body consists mostly of water. Human body is consists of two thirds of water. Water doesn't have any colour, odour, taste and shape however it provides all to us in our life.

71% of the earth surface is covered with water. It is vital to all forms of life found on the earth. It is found below the ground, oceans, large water bodies, and small water reservoirs. Water is also available in many forms like vapor, clouds, precipitation, surface water, glaciers, polar ice caps, etc. The life cycle of water runs all around on the earth continuously through evaporation, precipitation, runoff, rain, etc. Apart from this, we lack clean drinking water in many areas of the country. Water scarcity is the lack of access to the safe water. Slowly, it is being hard to manage the quality of water for the people who lack it. In some areas, lack of water is the daily problem. People have to suffer a lot the scarcity of water. It takes a lot of efforts, cost and time to manage the access of water to all especially in the areas of water scarcity. It is a big issue to many countries worldwide. People having sufficient water do not understand the importance of water and they waste a lot water on daily basis in many unnecessary activities.

As we all know that around 2 or less percent water is fresh water on the earth and fit for human consumption. Most of the water is locked up in glaciers, snow, ice and others are in the form of open source. The main source of freshwater is groundwater because of the natural filtering system. The matter of freshwater availability raises the question about water security as well as people's access to it at affordable price. The depth of ground water is increasing with the huge climatic changes in the environment. Clean water insecurity at many places has increased due to the draught and natural disasters without season. In the coming decades the demand of clean water supply will increase because of populations growth, need of agriculture and industry will expand, negative climatic changes, etc.

It's time to join our hands together and take effective actions regarding save water as much as possible. There are different ways we can save huge water on daily basis. Water saving can be done through water conservation methods. Saving water and protective it from being dirty has been very necessary to meet current and future demand. Climate change is another factor of water scarcity. As water demands will increase in future, it should be saved to ensure its availability for future generations. If we do not take positive action, the condition will be more embarrassing when the rate of lack of fresh water from an ecosystem exceeds to its natural replacement rate. By minimizing the need of water to human; freshwater habitats, local wildlife and migrating birds can be saved. We should bring many positive changes in our habits and activities to save even a drop of water.

Lack of water is a big issue in many countries. It is a symbiotic factor and important element to which life depends on. The level of drinking water under the ground is becoming less because of the disturbance in the natural filtering system. Deforestation and lack of plants causes rain water to run away instead of going inside the ground. We should follow all the key activities regarding save water from loss, unnecessary use and waste as well as damage of water quality

IMPORTANCE OF GOOD READING HABITS

By Divya Dessai, F.Y.BA

The students who inculcate good reading habits perform better academically compared to those who are reluctant to read. Besides helping in the academics, the habit of reading also boosts the students' confidence, helps them develop greater understanding about various things in life and assists in various other aspects. Here are the various reasons why good reading habits are important in a student's life:

1. Reading Enhances Intellect

Students must be encouraged to develop good reading habits from the very beginning. Good reading habits help in enhancing their intellect and intelligence. A student who develops this habit is likely to act more maturely and wisely in any given situations as he is more learned.

2. Reading Enhances Vocabulary

Reading more and more helps the students enhance their vocabulary. The more they read the newer words they come across. One must refer to the dictionary at once to check the meaning of these new words. Reading is indeed one of the best ways to enrich your vocabulary.

3. Reading Helps Focus Better

A student who develops good reading habit also develops better concentration power. Being engrossed in the books becomes a habit and anything that such students do is with complete focus. This is particularly true for studies.

4. Reading Makes a Student More Knowledgeable

It goes without saying that reading more and more helps in gaining more knowledge. Students who read newspapers, magazines and other non-fiction stuff develop a thirst for knowledge and become more knowledgeable.

5. Reading Boosts Confidence

Students who are more knowledgeable and intelligent certainly feel more confident. They develop better clarity in life and also form an opinion about various things. They express their views confidently during the classroom sessions and are also more confident during group discussions.

6. Reading Helps in Extra-Curricular Activities

Participating in extra-curricular activities such as debate and quiz competition is a breeze for students who have good reading habits. These students also make for a good choice for dramatics. Having knowledge and opinion on different subjects gives them an edge over others.

7. Reading Improves Academic Performance

Students who have good reading habits also read their academic books thoroughly. Many of them have a habit of re-reading their texts over and over again. Besides, they have a good vocabulary. This helps in improving their academic performance

Conclusion

Thus, good reading habits help in the all round development of the students. It is extremely essential for the students to develop this habit from the primary classes itself. Both teachers and parents must help them to develop this good habit

The participation of youth is must to achieve any kind of future goals of prosperity, progress, peace and safety.

Similarly, for the development of our nation, youth has the most crucial role to play. If our nation is to achieve progress in the field of science, technology, finances, health, innovation the zealous and sincere participation of youth is required. The energy, creativity, enthusiasm, determination and spirit of youth should be channelized to achieve progress.

To ensure participation of the youths in national development, they need to be encouraged and supported by their parents, civil society and government. Providing quality education, employment opportunities and empowerment to the youths are key factors in achieving progress and development of the nation. Youths deserve rights to get educated, to connect and to question about justice, equality and opportunity. Youths have certain responsibility towards their nation, which they must recognize and practice instead of blaming the system of our nation. Youths can come together and shape the future of our country. The attitude that "what change can an individual bring to the whole Nation...?" hinders the progress. The correct attitude and urge to serve the nation is very important. Youth are the social actors to bring the change and progress. Youth should be sincere and hardworking as the advancement of nation mostly is in their hands. The principle of integrity should be adopted by youth for progress in any work they take up.

Thus, youths play a significant role in the progress and development of the nation. They can bring rapid change and development with sincere efforts. They have fire in them to fly high and chase the sky. So, if the power of youth is used wisely and optimally then it can surely lead to the national development.

INDIAN EDUCATON SYSTEM

By Vaishnavi Naik, F.Y.B.COM

Indian education system is said to be old and mundane. In the times, when the organizations are looking for creative and enthusiastic individuals, the Indian schools train the young minds, to follow a set curriculum and behave as they are told for almost fifteen years of their lives. There is no freedom to provide suggestions or share ideas. There is a serious need to reform the Indian education system which in turn helps in developing smarter individuals.

Need to Think Out of the Box

There is a dire need to think out of the box if we want to make new inventions, bring positive changes in the society and prosper at a personal level. However, unfortunately our schools train us otherwise. They tie us to a set study schedule and keep us so busy with completing the assignments and learning theoretical lessons that there is no room left for creativity.

The Indian education system must be changed to make way for creative thinking. Schools must focus on activities that challenge the student's mind, hone their analytical skills and invoke their creative thinking ability. This will help them perform better in different fields as they grow up.

Need for All Round Development

The primary focus of the Indian education system is on academics. Here also the focus is not on understanding the concept and enhancing knowledge but only on mugging up the lessons with or without understanding them with the sole aim of attaining good marks. Even though some schools have extra-curricular activities, there is hardly one class per week for these activities.Education in the Indian schools has just been reduced to gaining theoretical knowledge which is not enough to raise an intelligent and responsible individual. The system must be changed to ensure the all round development of the students.

Conclusion

The people in power must understand that the Indian education system requires serious reforms. The system must change to develop students spiritually, morally, physically as well as mentally
